The Entrance Of Turkey

With the entrance of Turkey into the European war, the deep plot of the war god grows more complicated and the restoration of peace seems to be more remote even than it did some days ago.

The opinion of the great majority of people seems to be Hush thee! and when the midnight that it will no longer be necessary, after the close of this conflict, that any of the great powers retain the Turk in Europe to maintain the balance of power. The passage of the Dardanelles will no longer be forbidden to the vessels of all nations, save with the consent of Turkey, after the close of the war, and Turkey in Europe will no longer menace Christianity when It is only in silence that magic is peace is again restored.

Whether Turkey, with her rich lands and valuable seaports will fall into the hands of Russia or Germany seems to be dependent upon the outcome of the present conflict.

Russia has longed for centuries to possess Constantinople and thus gain an outlet to the sea. Its possession would give to Russia the most valuable outlet to the sea imaginable. Whether the great seaport of the Turks falls into the hands of Germany or Russia seems to be the only problem however, as no matter how the conflict ends, Turkey seems doomed to lose out.

Germany, with whom the Turk has joined in the conflict is almost as covetous of her seaport as is Russia. Not quite so hemmed in by land as is the "Great Bear", Germany has felt the need of a southern port and it is not likely that if Germany is victor in the great war now raging that Turkey will be permitted to block her passage to the south and stand as a feeble collossus against her outlet by sea to the south.

The passing of Turkey in Europe will be some compensation for the losses and sufferings of war.

It will remove a constant menace to Christian nations and what has long been a tremendous barrier to the commercial and moral progress of the people of southern Europe.

No one, except perhaps the Turks themselves, will regret the exodus of Turkey from Europe.

Picturesque Constantinople with its beautiful mosques and minerets will be an attractive object at which the gunners on both land and sea will now train their great weapons of de struction.

After the lapse of centuries the promise is that the banners of Christianity may again float from the great dome of St. Sophia's from whence they were torn down and trampled in the its' magical. blood and dust of the street, when the victorious Turks wrested control in the east from the Roman Emperor Constantine.

The ownership of Turkey's possessions in Europe would immensely enrich any nation of Europe, providing they could dependable remover of corns, callous caught by the machine and crushed. be annexed without the burden of the insufferable Turk attached. Turkish customs and Turkish government uprooted and it is not likely that the Turk would remain subject to the control of a Christian people and a Christian nation.

How Canada Got Its Name.

The origin of the name Canada is strange enough. The Spaniards visited that country previous to the French and made particular search for gold and silver, and, finding none, they often said among themselves, "Aca nada,' meaning "There is nothing here." The Indians, who watched closely, learned this sentence and its meaning. Later on the French arrived, and the Indians, who wanted none of their company and supposed they had come on the same errand as the Spanish, were desirous, to inform them in the Spanish sentence "Aca nada." The French, who knew as little of the Spanish language as they, supposed that the incessantly recurring sound was the name of the country and ultimately christened it Canada, which it has borne ever since.

night, and you lose the sleep you sorely need to keep up your strength.

Foley's Honey and 'l'ar eases that tight feeling and leaves a healing coating as it glides down the throat. The tickling, rasping cough and hoarseness disappear, and the phlegm is raised easily and copiously.

There is more healing in one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound than in a like quantity of any other cough and cold medicine. It heals to the last drop.

W. J. BELLAMY, Clarksburg, Ky., writes: "My boy, 16 years old, had bronchial trouble ever since he was a baby. We feared he would go into consumption. I heard of a similar case where Foley's Honey and Tar Compound effected a cure, and bought a bottle. My son commenced to improve after the first few doses, and the first bottle stopped his stubborn cough. Foley's Honey and Tar has given better satisfaction than any medicine lever used. I think this wonderful medicine has saved the boy's life."

MAYOR HANDS OUT

Mayor Coffey passed the word out first hand, Friday, that a careful watch will be maintained for gambling, and that any violation of the law will be promptly punished by a substantial fine.

Reports had come to his ears that gambling was in progress in certain parts of the city, and he took immediate steps to put an end to any violations of the law, and to give warning of what might be expected at his hands.

"Under no circumstances will I permit gambling, and any information leading to the arrest of persons found gambling will be gladly received," said Mayor Coffey in speaking of the matter.

New York, Nov. 6.-The membership of the Sixty-fourth congress, as the result of Tuesday's election, excluding a few contests still in doubt, will be as follows: House of representatives: Democrat, 229; Republican, 196; Progressive, 7; Socialist, 1; Independent, 1. Democratic majority, 24. Senate: Democrat, 53; Republican, 39; Progressive, 1. Democratic majority, 13.

Senatorial contests still in doubt are in Colorado, Nevada and Wisconsin. Democratic leaders still claimed the election of Charles S. Thomas over Hubert Work in Colorado and of Platt in Nevada. Republican leaders claimed the election of Francis E. Mc-Govern over Paul A. Husting, Democrat, in Wisconsin, but through an error discovered in one of the Wisconsin counties an apparent majority for McGovern had been swept away, leaving the situation much in doubt.

clared war on Turkey and formally annexed the island of Cyprus. Declarations y Russia, France, Servia, Belgium, Japan and Montenegro are

A state of war has actually existed since the acts of the Turkish Black sea fleet aligned Turkey with Germany and Austria. Russia moved her troops to the Caucasus and invaded Armenia, while the British and French in the eastern Mediterranean began an attack on the forts of the Dardanelles.

It is reported in Athens that the bombardment by the British and French warships severely damaged Forts Kumkaleh and Seddulbahr. A Turkish torpedo boat which passed through the straits was driven back.

The British government delayed formal action, however, until it was seen that the conservative statesmen in Constantinople were powerless to keep the peace and were wax in the hands of the Young Turks under Enver Pasha. It was finally decided at a conference of the cabinet to proclaim a state of war. The privy council met at Buckingham palace and approved the course of the cabinet.

The annexation of Cyprus to the empire was hardly more than a formality, since the island, which is the third largest in the Mediterranean, has been actually a British possession since 1878, although nominally under the suzerainty of the sultan.

The contention of the British and Russian foreign officers is that Turkey was forced into the war by German intrigue and against the wishes of the representative government.

Now that fighting has been begun, foreigners in many Turkish ports are in some danger. Feeling against aliens has been stirred up. A dispatch from Alexandria states that the Turkish authorities at Beirut attempted to prevent the departure of British subjects, explaining that there was no intention of holding these persons as hostages, but a desire to avoid the American consul intervened successfully in behalf of British and other citizens detained. The American armored cruiser North Carolina is at Beirut and there is a report that the warship landed marines to insure the

There is prospect of fighting on the Egypian frontier, but for the present interest is directed mostly to the operations of the Russian troops now invading Armenia and to the attack of the Anglo-French fleet on the Dardanelles.

The news from Persia indicates that German and Turkish influences are strongly at work. Salared Dowleh, pretender to the throne, has announced himself openly as Germany's candidate for the rulership of Persia.

Reports from Tabriz say that the Turkish minister there has been arrested and that the German and Auspraisers selected by the various trian consuls have taken refuge in the

To get quick and certain relief from catarrh or a cold it is most important that the medication goes directly to the inflamed tissue lining the air passages. That's the Hyomei method. Just put a few drops of antiseptic Hyomei in the inhaler that breathe it-you will feel better at once. It clears the head, quickly relieves the tightness in the chest and that choked-up feeling, all disagreeable nasal discharges, watery eyes and dull headaches surely cease.

So certain is T. F. Brown's of the curative powers of Hyomei for catarrh, croup asthma, and similar diseases, that he sells it on the "No-of hand, etc., occupying about thirty minutes. At this point a new novelty is offered in his new French trick, entitled "The Mystic Le Chapeau."

Laurant's new, startling illusion, "The Soldier, the Priest and the Devil," has been especially built to replace his great mystery, "The Witch of the Flame." It is entirely different in every way. "The Soldier, the Priest and the Devil" is a combination of effects. during which Laurant assumes three characters at almost one and the same time. An escape is made in full view, and instantly an appearance is made in the person of "the devil."
